

I am very disappointed that my favorite radio station may be seriously affected by changes concerning FM/LPFM stations. IF K-Love is replaced by stations on LPFM, we may not have family/kid friendly radio.

We have a teenager who has the most severe form of Bi-polar. When she listens to secular radio with its horrible messages and foul words, her whole personality changes. She has even become violent after listening to some hard rock and rap music. Now we only allow uplifting music e.g. K-Love. We aren't the only family tired of the secular stations. It seems as if we are so concerned with "freedom of speech", that now, we have to be overly cautious about the radio we do let our children listen too. With K-Love and other Christian stations, we know that there will NOT be any filth that our kids can hear. It isn't only Christians that listen to K-Love. Anyone who is concerned about the language children hear on the radio, know that they don't have to worry about what the kids are listening to or what harmful messages our children might be getting over the airwaves.

Please STRONGLY consider this when you are making your decisions.

Thank You!
